RECESSIVE MUTATION

Both parents have to have the gene to reproduce colour in their young. A colour and a split will breed colour, as will two splits. Both cocks and hens can be split to a Recessive mutation. Examples of recessive mutations are Blues, Pied's, Black, Golden and Yellow Head.

SEX LINKED

In a Sex Linked mutation a cock split to the mutation will breed coloured hens when bred over a normal hen. A coloured Hen and a split Cock will breed coloured cocks and hens and split cocks. A coloured Cock and a coloured Hen will breed all coloured Cocks and Hens. Only cocks can be split to a sex linked mutation. Examples over sex linked mutations are Lutino, Red, Rubino, Albino and Cinnamon.
